

Dennis Foley

Sergeant Dennis Foley was one of Fernwood's Finest. And he felt that he was one of the finest specimens of man that Fernwood had to offer.

He fell hard for Mary Hartman, and Mary (who was having marital difficulties) fell pretty hard for him, but Mary pushed him off on former social worker Roberta Walashak. Mary's sister, Cathy Shumway dated and got engaged to Dennis (much to Mary's dismay). Dennis really went through the women in Fernwood, but he really only had (somewhat shifty) eyes for Mary.

Dennis attempted a rescue when the mass murderer held Mary hostage. When the rescue failed, he was tied back to back with Mary, and they felt a special bond along with their being bound.

Mary and Dennis almost consummated their relationship, but Dennis had a heart attack. They simply resumed in the hospital room. Mary was overwhelmed with guilt though, and they were again separated.

Dennis eventually won Mary away from Tom and Heather and Fernwood. Dennis and Mary escaped together at the series end.

Dennis was played by Bruce Solomon.

Clete was played by Michael Lembeck.

Back to "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" Characters

Back to "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" Pages

Back to The Mary Kay Place Place