

Heather Hartman

“Heather.”

“Heather.”

“Heather!”

This was Mary Harman’s typical greeting to her daughter. Louise Lasser, who played Mary, actually named this character because the name “Heather” was so “not plain,” so not “Mary.”

Heather was trying to be a popular 12-year-old girl. One way to popularity, or at least notoriety, was being kidnaped by Fernwood’s mass-murderer, Davey Jessup.

Heather and her mother had a shaky relationship at best. Heather was sullen and slovenly, but was basically a good kid. She had the same pig-tail braids as her mother, so there was at least an homage to mom in the way that she looked.

In season two, Heather decided that she wanted to be a nun. She wore black and white towels on her head as though they were a nun’s habit. Old habits are hard to break, but this one was short-lived.

Heather was played by Claudia Lamb.

Back to “Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman” Characters

Back to “Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman” Pages

Back to The Mary Kay Place Place